

Achieving Excellence Together

20th September 2024

Dear Parents,

The importance of reading with your child at home

Reading is fundamental to children's learning and making progress in school. At Hadrian, pupils have achieved fantastic results in reading over the past few years and a big part to achieving this is the support we get from families in hearing children read at home.

There can be few things as powerful as regularly reading to children. It has astonishing benefits for younger children: comfort and reassurance, confidence and security, relaxation, happiness and fun. Giving a child time and full attention when reading them a story tells them they matter.

Reading with your child, for just a few minutes a day, will help them develop their vocabulary, their understanding of language and help them develop a love of books. Age is no barrier – just because your child may be a confident, older reader does not mean you cannot share reading experiences. Talk to your child about what they are reading; share the book together; ask them to tell you about the characters or plot. Showing an interest is important.

Below are some tips to encourage your child to read for pleasure:

- Set aside some time

Find somewhere quiet without any distractions – turn off the TV/radio/computer.

- Ask your child to choose a book

Sharing books they have chosen shows you care what they think and that their opinion matters. This means they are more likely to engage with the book.

- Sit close together

Encourage your child to hold the book themselves and/or turn the pages.

- Point to the pictures

If there are illustrations, relate them to something your child knows. Ask them to describe the characters or situation or what will happen next. Encourage them to tell you the story by looking at the pictures.

- Encourage your child to talk about the book

Talking about the characters and their dilemmas helps children understand relationships and is an excellent way for you to get to know each other or discuss difficult issues. Give your child plenty of time to respond. Ask them what will happen next, how a character might be feeling or how the book makes them feel.

- And lastly, above all – make it fun!

It doesn't matter how you read with a child, as long as you both enjoy the time together. Don't be afraid to use funny voices – children love this!
